Light classical music concert

Mysuru, Apr. 14- Vid. M.G. Raghunath presented a light classical music concert at the Dixit Arogya Dhama in Vijayanagar recently as part of its monthly Arogya Ananda programme.

Vidu. Shruti and Vid. Vikram Bharadwaj accompanied him on violin and mridanga respectively.

Dr. Anil Kumar, Director of Dixit Arogya Dhama, spoke on the medicinal benefits of Bilwa Patra plant, the leaves of which are considered very auspicious in the worship of Lord Shiva.

"Different parts of Bilwa tree are used in medicinal preparations in Ayurveda for its anti-inflammatory and anti-oxidant properties. Trees and plants with medicinal properties have been mentioned as sacred by our ancestors in a bid to save them from being destroyed," he said.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

A recent report in the international medical journal Lancet which said India's Total Fertility Rate (TFR) has fallen below the replacement level, and is set to fall further, has attracted much attention. The fall in the TFR has serious implications for the country. In 2021, India's TFR was at 1.91 children per woman, below the necessary replacement fertility level of 2.1, and is expected to go down to 1.29 by 2050. That shows the country is undergoing a major demographic shift. By 2025, one in five persons will be above 60 years which is beyond the productive age group. The first inference from the projections is that India's current demographic dividend will soon disappear as the share of its working-age population will peak in the late 2030s or early 2040s. So, it has only a few years to provide adequate education and health facilities to its young and make use of its population advantage.

The experience of other countries is that it is not possible to raise the TFR after it starts falling. No developed country has been able to do it. China's remarkable economic progress happened when the country made good use of its demographic dividend for over two decades from the 1980s. Its TFR and working-age population have started falling now, and the country is facing economic and social problems arising from the changing nature of its demography. An ageing population, shrinking labour force, and social imbalances of various types present many challenges in such a scenario. Most countries in the world will be in the same situation as India will be by the second half of this century, except countries in sub-Saharan Africa. It is estimated that India's fertility rate will drop to one child per woman by the turn of the century.

India has serious tasks before it, all to be addressed at the same time. It must formulate and implement policies and practices which will make best use of its young population. If it fails to do it, it will not only miss its demographic opportunity but will also face social and economic strife along with political problems. Plans will have to be made to ensure social security, healthcare, and welfare of the increasing elderly population. India is also in a unique situation where TFR varies significantly from region to region. This means the population will be increasing in some areas while it will be declining in other areas. This will give rise to issues related to mobility and migration. Uneven growth of population will have social and political consequences also. India must start planning for all the possibilities right now.

Two-storey house that floats on water

San Francisco: The mystery of a 2-storey home seen floating in the San Francisco Bay for several days has been solved.

The wood-shingled home was first spotted in the water on Sunday and was seen in various locations around the bay in the ensuing days.

The U.S. Coast Guard said it is monitoring the private transfer of the house, which was built atop a floating barge.

It has now been revealed that the house was the second-to-last houseboat to leave the Redwood City marina.

The marina was formerly home to more than 100 people living on the water, but the city started evicting the houseboats in 2015 after lawsuits from nearby residents.

The floating house sparked a flurry of speculation when it was first seen in the water, with many pointing out similarities to the Pixar film Up - just on the water instead of the air. Phil Hott of Sausalito said the house's journey took several hours longer than expected.

Overdue book returned to library after 105 years!

Colorado: A Colorado library said a book was recently returned to the facility after being due back 105 years earlier.

Poudre Libraries announced on its website that the copy of Ivanhoe, by Sir Walter Scott, had been due back at the Fort Collins Public Library and Free Reading Room on Feb. 13, 1919.

The book was returned to the library system by a woman who reported that her brother had found it among their mother's belongings in Kansas.

The library system said the book would have accrued about 760 dollars in late fees under the 1919 rate of 2 cents per day, but the library eliminated late fines in 2020.

Remove the gate on Devikere Main Road atop Chamundi Hill

Sir,

The main road connecting Nayakara Beedhi through Devikere, falling under the jurisdiction of Chamundi Hill Gram Panchayat (GP) in Kasaba hobli, Mysuru taluk, has been closed off by the members of the erstwhile Mysore Royal Family. They have installed a gate and deployed a security guard to monitor the area.

This road is a Government District Main Road and the installation of the gate has caused significant inconvenience to regular commuters. This is particularly problematic for those needing to attend funerals, as the burial ground is located adjacent to Devikere.

Residents of Nayakara Beedhi are facing difficulties due to restricted access to LPG cylinder vehicles, school vans and transportation for individuals with health issues. These challenges have persisted for approximately one-and-a-half years, and residents in this area of the hill are feeling the impact.

The Public Works Department (PWD) designates Devikere Road as a 'District Main Road'. Despite numerous complaints to the District Administration over the past year, no action has been taken to reopen the road to the public.

It is noteworthy for the people of Mysuru that a member of the erstwhile Mysore royal family is contesting the Lok Sabha election this time from Mysuru-Kodagu Constituency, expressing a commitment to public service. To initiate his public service from Chamundi Hill, the abode of Goddess Chamundeshwari, he (referring to the titular king Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar) should consider removing the gate installed on Devikere Main Road.

GTD campaigns for Yaduveer
in Chamundeshwari Assembly segment

Mysuru, Apr. 14 (MTY&VNS)- Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Dy.CM D.K. Shivakumar, in a bid to safeguard the Congress State Government, have been striving hard to ensure the party's victory from Mysuru-Kodagu Lok Sabha Constituency, said JD(S) Core Committee Chairman and MLA G.T. Devegowda (GTD), here yesterday.

Addressing the BJP-JD(S) joint campaign rallies held at Sathagalli, Hanchya, Rammanahalli, Kamanakerehundi, Siddalingapura, Kalastavadi, Lakshmipura, Naganahalli, Shadanahalli and other locations under the Chamundeshwari Assembly Constituency, along with Mysuru-Kodagu NDA candidate Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar, Devegowda said both Siddaramaiah and D.K. Shivakumar were coming out with various strategies to ensure the Congress candidate emerges victorious in the ensuing polls and added that their plans would fail as it is certain that Yaduveer Wadiyar would win from the Mysuru-Kodagu Constituency as leaders and party workers of the BJP and JD(S) have joined hands to ensure the NDA candidate's victory.

Stating that Yaduveer would garner the support of various communities, Devegowda said that it was important that Prime Minister Narendra Modi returns to power at the Centre.

"Leaders and party workers of both the parties must extend their complete support to strengthen PM Modi at the Centre. Congress party has been playing the Vokkaliga card in Mysuru-Kodagu Constituency which will fail as Vokkaligas do not believe in casteism and they do not only support the candidate belonging to their community. With this, it is certain that Vokkaliga community members would cast their franchise in support of Yaduveer," he added.

Speaking on the occasion, Yaduveer Wadiyar said that presence of G.T. Devegowda was an added inspiration to his campaigning and added that arrival of Modi to Mysuru will boost the confidence of both JD(S) and BJP leaders and party workers.

Yesterday's campaigning witnessed both Yaduveer Wadiyar and GTD campaigning till 9.30 pm through road shows, bullock cart rallies and padayatras at Maidunahalli, Mallegowdanakoppal, Gungralchatra, Yelwal, Mygalapura, Undawadi, Sagarakatte, Yadahalli and other village falling under Chamundeshwari Constituency.

Addressing the gathering, GTD requested people to support Yaduveer who had come to their doorsteps seeking their votes. "Among the Lok Sabha Constituencies in Karnataka, people of Mysuru-Kodagu LS seat must ensure that Yaduveer emerges victorious with a largest margin," he said.

BJP leaders Arunkumar Gowda, Hemanthkumar Gowda and others were present.

PM Modi has no moral rights to seek votes in Mysuru: CM Siddaramaiah

CM Siddaramaiah beating the drum to inaugurate the Congress party's KR Constituency election convention at Bhoothale Grounds in Vidyaranyapuram here yesterday as MLA and KPCC Working President Tanveer Sait, MLA K. Harishgowda, MLC Dr. D. Thimmaiah, former MLA M.K. Somashekar, Guarantee Schemes Implementation Authority Vice-Chairpersons Dr. Pushpa Amarnath, Congress leaders H.V. Rajeev, K. Venkatesh, former Deputy Mayor B. Siddaraju, City Congress President R. Murthy and others look on.

Mysuru, Apr. 14 (BLU&VNS)- "How can Prime Minister Narendra Modi, who failed to fulfill the promise of developing Mysuru on the lines of Paris, come to Mysuru to seek votes for the party candidates," said Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, here yesterday.

Inaugurating the Congress Party's KR Constituency election convention at Bhoothale Grounds in Vidyaranyapuram, Siddaramaiah said that the BJP had no moral rights to seek votes as it had not announced a single welfare programme when in power in the State.

Siddaramaiah, who took a dig at MP Prathap Simha, said that the Mysuru-Kodagu MP had failed to develop the Constituency for the past 10 years despite people of the Constituency electing him twice. "If Prathap Simha had developed the Constituency over the past 10 years, why did BJP have to change the candidate for the ensuing polls?" he questioned and added that Prathap Simha was denied the ticket as BJP was afraid of him losing from the Constituency.

"Not only Prathap Simha, all 27 MPs from the State have failed to deliver as they lack confidence to speak in front of Prime Minister Modi. The MPs from the State also failed to raise their voices against the injustice meted out against Karnataka. Moreover, the BJP State Government which was in power for 3 years and 10 months did not come out with a single welfare programme. Both Yediyurappa and Basavaraj Bommai as Chief Ministers did not think about the people of the State," said Siddaramaiah.

Taking a dig at PM Modi, Siddaramaiah added that the Prime Minister, who promised Rs. 15 lakh to the accounts of every Indian did not even give Rs. 15,000. "The present Government has no control over inflation with prices of essential commodities such as petrol, food products and other commodities increasing every single day. The BJP has only been misleading the people through false propaganda," he added.

Will not stop guarantees

Siddaramaiah during his public address yesterday said that the guarantee schemes announced by the Congress State Government would not be stopped at any time. Taking a dig at the Opposition parties, the Chief Minister said that not a single development programme was stopped with the implementation of guarantee schemes as being projected by the Opposition.

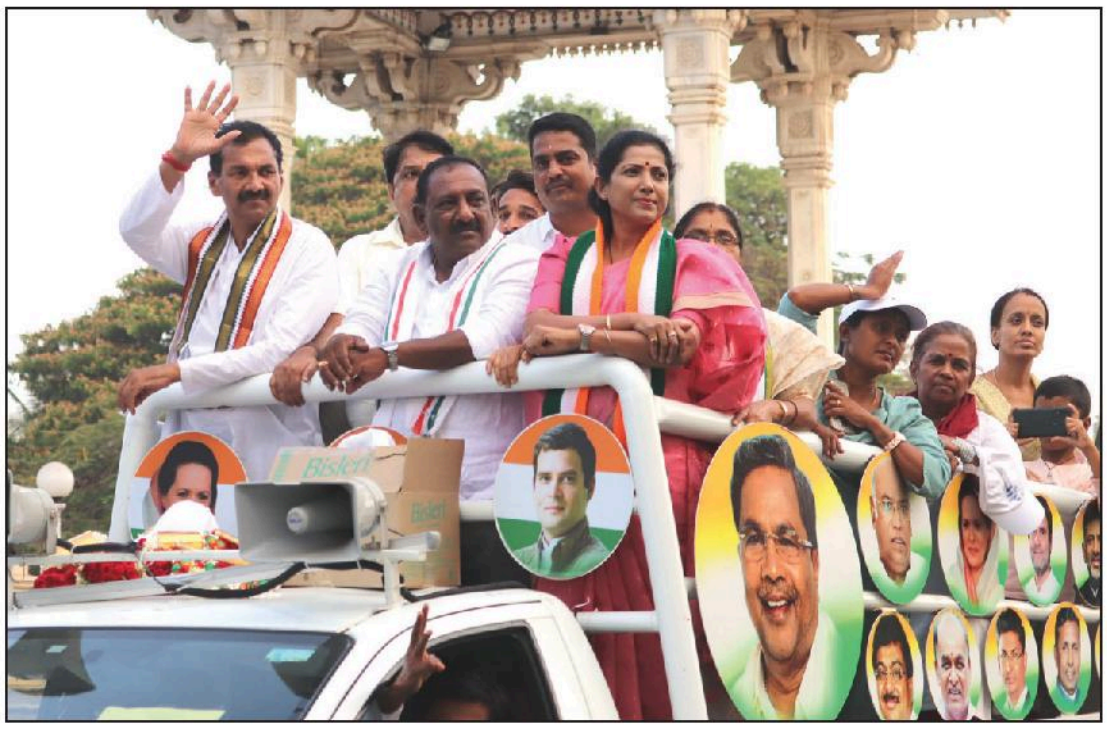
During his speech, CM Siddaramaiah said that the money being spent on the guarantee schemes was through various taxes collected from the people. After realising that his statement would turn into a controversy, he switched over to another topic.

Congress candidate Lakshmana holds election rallies in Chamaraja Constituency

Mysuru, Apr. 14 (SBD&VNS)- Mysuru-Kodagu Lok Sabha Congress candidate M. Lakshmana held election rallies at various locations in Chamaraja Assembly segment along with MLA K. Harishgowda yesterday.

He first offered special puja at Sri Nimbujambadevi Temple in Nazarbad before holding road shows on main thoroughfares. On arrival at K.T. Street after passing through Hardinge Circle and Gandhi Square, the party workers showered flower petals on both MLA Harishgowda and M. Lakshmana apart shouting pro-Congress slogans boosting the confidence of the candidate.

Displaying their show of strength the Congress leaders arrived at Mandi Mohalla where Muslim community leaders welcomed them with garlands. Later, they visited Meena Bazaar, Kailaspuram, Bamboo Bazar, Narayana Shastry Road and other localities as a part of the campaign.



Speaking on the occasion, Lakshmana requested people to support him during the ensuing polls to realise the dream of living in a harmonious society which is possible only when Congress comes to power at the Centre.

Karnataka Pradesh Mahila Congress Committee President Dr. Pushpa Amarnath, Party leaders and workers accompanied Lakshmana and MLA Harishgowda during the road show.

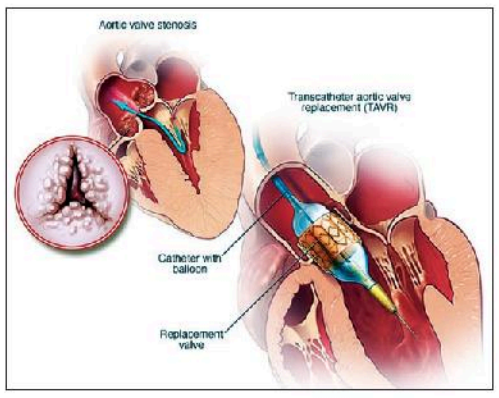
HEALTH TALK

TAVI: A Revolutionary Treatment for Heart Valve Disease

By Dr. V. Keshavamurthy
Senior Consultant
Cardiologist,
Narayana Hospital,
Mysuru.

The Interventional Cardiology Department at Narayana Hospital, Mysuru, is committed to advancing heart care in the region. As early adopters of innovative treatment options, the Hospital has introduced Transcatheter Aortic Valve Implantation (TAVI) in this region, offering a breakthrough solution for heart valve disease. With over five years of experience, the Hospital continues to provide this state-of-the-art treatment, ensuring exceptional outcomes and raising the bar for cardiac care.



Problem: Understanding Heart Valve Disease

Heart Valve Disease, especially Aortic Valve Disease, is common among the elderly. It happens when the valve that controls blood flow from the heart's main pumping chamber (the left ventricle) to the body's main artery (the aorta) becomes narrowed or blocked. This can lead to symptoms like chest pain, fatigue and shortness of breath, making even routine activities difficult.

TAVI v/s Open Heart Surgery: A Less Invasive Option

Traditionally, treating heart valve disease required open-heart surgery, where the chest is cut open and the heart is stopped temporarily during the surgery. TAVI offers a less invasive alternative. Instead of opening the chest, we insert a new valve into the heart through a small incision usually in the leg. This minimally invasive approach means less pain and a quick recovery for patients.

TAVI: How It Works?

During a TAVI procedure, we use a special catheter to place a new valve inside the heart, where it expands and takes over the function of the damaged valve. The entire procedure typically takes about an hour and is done in a specialised lab. Later, patients are closely monitored before moving to a recovery ward.

Transcatheter Valves: A Closer Look

Imagine a tiny valve being delivered through a small tube into the heart. That's what happens during a TAVI procedure. We use advanced imaging technology to guide the valve into position, ensuring it fits perfectly and functions well. The procedure is safe and effective, with minimal risks.

Risks and Recovery: What to Expect

Like any other medical procedures, TAVI has risks, such as possibility of bleeding or irregular heart rhythm. However, the benefits outweigh the risks and most patients recover well without any complication under expert care. After the procedure, patients are given instructions for a smooth recovery at home, including medication and activity guidelines.

Conclusion: Transforming Heart Care

TAVI represents a major advancement in treating heart valve disease, offering patients a safer alternative compared to open heart surgery. At Narayana Hospital, Mysuru, we are proud to bring this innovative treatment to our community, ensuring that everyone has access to world-class cardiac care.

Process of Vote From Home begins

This initiative represents a significant step towards ensuring inclusivity and accessibility in the electoral process, thereby enhancing democratic participation. Across the country, there are over 81 lakh voters aged 85 and above, and more than 90 lakh registered PwD voters.

In Mysuru, 460 out of 579 elderly voters and physically challenged voters exercised their franchise through the Absentee Voters Senior Citizens (AVSC) and Absentee Voters Physically Disabled (AVPD) facilities, casting their votes comfortably from their homes across three Assembly segments of the Mysuru-Kodagu Lok Sabha seat: Chamundeshwari, Krishnaraja and Narasimharaja.

In Chamundeshwari, 196 elderly individuals opted for Home Voting, with 93 of them casting their votes. Five were absent and one voter had passed away. Additionally, out of 68 physically disabled individuals who opted for Home Voting, 43 voted, while one voter had passed away.

In Krishnaraja, a total of 271 senior citizens chose Home Voting, with 260 of them casting their votes from the comfort of their homes. Four were absent and unfortunately, seven individuals had passed away. Meanwhile, all 20 physically disabled voters exercised their franchise.

In Narasimharaja, 112 senior citizens opted for Home Voting, with 107 of them voting, while four were absent and one voter had passed away. Out of 108 physically disabled voters, 82 cast their votes, while one voter had passed away.

Postal Voting Centre opens at DC Office

To facilitate Absentee Voters on Essential Services (AVES) to cast their votes through the post, a Postal Voting Centre (PVC) has been set up at the Office of the Deputy Commissioner (DC), who also serves as the District Electoral Officer. The PVC is located in Room No. 10 on the ground floor of the DC Office in Siddarthanagar. AVES individuals can cast their votes between 9 am and 5 pm from Apr. 19 to 21, as per a press release.

Former CM B.S. Yediyurappa called on Chamarajanagar MP V. Sreenivasa Prasad at latter's Jayalakshmipuram residence in Mysuru this morning as former Hassan MLA Preetham Gowda looks on.

Mysuru, Apr. 14 (BLU&VNS)- A day after Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and other Congress party leaders visited Chamajaranagar MP V. Sreenivasa Prasad's residence yesterday, senior BJP leader and former Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa called on the veteran politician at his residence at Jayalakshmipuram in city this morning.

Yediyurappa along with former MLA Preetham Gowda and District BJP President L.R. Mahadevaswamy invited Sreenivasa Prasad to take part in Prime Minister Narendra Modi's programme to be held at Maharaja's College Grounds later in the day.

Later, speaking to the media persons, Yediyurappa said that Sreenivasa Prasad had immense respect towards PM Modi and added that he had invited the Chamarajanagar MP to take part in the event for at least a brief period.

Meanwhile, Sreenivasa Prasad in his reaction said that it was not a good practice to say no to the invitation and added that it was his choice to attend the event or not .

PM Narendra Modi's rally in city

Stage set for Prime Minister Narendra Modi's rally at Maharaja's College Grounds in city.

Buses from far-flung areas are being rerouted via the Outer Ring Road, dropping off passengers at the nearest point to the Maharaja's College Grounds. Already, over 40 buses have arrived in Mysuru at 1 pm and were seen dropping off passengers.

Given the Z Plus security accorded to PM Modi, the City Police have imposed stringent restrictions on parking around the rally venue, prohibiting vehicle parking after 11 am today. Barricades have already been laid to prevent entry of vehicles along the PM's route.

People are also being transported to the venue by BJP-JD(S) leaders and party workers from Constituencies such as Chamaraja, Narasimharaja, Krishnaraja and Chamundeshwari. Upon arrival, they undergo rigorous security checks before gaining access. Only media personnel with valid identity cards are permitted inside the venue.

At 11 am, over 300 Policemen were stationed at the venue, conducting crowd checks. The stage is now under the supervision of Commandos from the Special Protection Group-National Security Guards — responsible for the PM's security.

Food and water have been provided to the crowds inside the buses, with many seen having lunch on the Ring Road before proceeding to the venue. To avoid inconveniencing the moving crowd, PM Modi, upon his arrival at Oval Grounds in a chopper from Mysore Airport, where his special plane will land, will travel to Maharaja's College Grounds by road through the MUDA Office and JLB Road.

The Prime Minister is expected to share the stage with JD(S) patriarch H.D. Deve Gowda and the event will witness the presence of leaders from both BJP and JD(S) in the State. Expected attendees include JD(S) State President and former CM H.D. Kumaraswamy, who is also the candidate from Mandya, veteran BJP leader B.S. Yediyurappa and saffron party State President B.Y. Vijayendra.

BJP-JD(S) candidates, including Yaduveer Wadiyar from Mysuru-Kodagu, S. Balraj from Chamarajanagar and Prajwal Revanna from Hassan, will be present.

JD(S) joined the NDA in September last year and as part of the seat-sharing agreement, BJP is contesting in 25 Constituencies while JD(S) in the remaining three — Mandya, Hassan and Kolar — in the State.

Later, at 6 pm, Modi will lead a roadshow covering about 1.5 km in Mangaluru, stretching from Narayana Guru Circle to Nava Bharat Circle.

New Delhi, Apr. 14 (Agencies)- Coinciding with the nationwide birth anniversary celebrations of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar, Father of the Indian Constitution, Prime Minister Narendra Modi released 'Sankalp Patra', the BJP's election manifesto for Lok Sabha (LS) Polls-2024 with the tagline 'Modi Ki Guarantee', at the party headquarters, here this morning.

Soon after the release of the manifesto, the copies were handed over to representatives of the four broad groups — Gareeb, Yuva, Annadata and Nari Shakti (GYAN), the beneficiaries of Government schemes.

The party had formed a 27-member manifesto committee headed by Defence Minister Rajnath Singh which met a couple of times to deliberate on various aspects of the manifesto including its contents.

Speaking on the occasion, PM Modi said that the entire country was 'eagerly waiting' for the BJP manifesto adding that over the past 10 years, the party had implemented every point of the manifesto as a guarantee.

BJP's promises

"The party's manifesto empowers the four strong pillars of developed India — youth, women, poor and farmers. Our focus is to ensure dignity of life, quality of life and jobs through investment. In the last 10 years, around 25 crore of the country have moved out of multidimensional poverty which is a testament to BJP's commitment to a result-oriented approach to work," he added.

Stating that the free ration scheme would continue to be operational for the next five years, PM Modi said that senior citizens over the age of 70 years would be covered under the Ayushman Bharat Scheme irrespective of their economic background.

The Prime Minister also promised to build three crore more houses, increasing the ceiling limit under the Mudra Yojana Loan to Rs. 20 lahks from the existing Rs. 10 lahks and increasing the limit under the PM Swanidhi Yojana to Rs. 50,000.

With the focus on women empowerment, Prime Minister Modi said about 10 crore women had associated with Self Help Groups (SHG) and the party on returning to power would provide training to these women in SHGs in the fields of IT, Education, Health, Retail and Tourism. "Modi guarantees that 3 crore women will become Lakhpati Didis!" he added.

The BJP's 'Sankalp Patra' also promises to give priority to the physically disabled in the PM Housing Scheme, increasing the number of Dairies and Co-operative Societies by bringing the 'National Cooperative Policy' among others.

The party which is trying to make inroads in Tamil Nadu has promised to build Thiruvalluvar cultural centres all over the world.

Uniform Civil Code

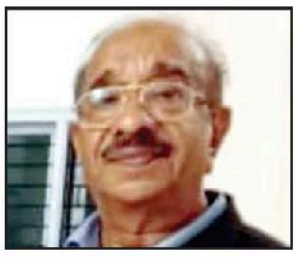
Stating that the works on implementing the promises of BJP's Sankalp Patra would begin soon after the results are announced on June 4, Prime Minister Modi said, with the Citizenship Amendment Act (CAA) being implemented, now will be the implementation of Uniform Civil Code (UCC) and also promised clarity on 'One Nation, One Election' policy.

BJP's manifesto also promises to expand Vande Bharat trains to every corner of the country. "We will create new satellite towns, which will emerge as growth centres for the nation's development," said PM Modi.

BJP National President J.P. Nadda, Home Minister Amit Shah, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh and Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman were present on the occasion.

End of E-Bonds: What next?

State Political Funding: A Democratic Alternative – 2



By Prof. M. Umapathy
Retd. Professor and Head,
Department of Political Science,
University of Mysore

In the first General Elections in 1952, there were 17 crore voters. The government expenditure on it was said to be Rs. 17.8 crore. In the General Elections of 2019, the number of voters were 90 crores. The amount of expenditure in this election by the candidates and parties together was calculated to be Rs. 60,000 crore. In the current elections-2024, the number of voters is 96.8 crore. The administrative cost estimated by the EC for conducting the elections is Rs. 520 crore (The Hindu dated 8th April 2024 p6).

The amount of expenditure by candidates and political parties naturally is estimated to exceed the amount of Rs. 60,000 crore of the 2019 elections. While the money power of political parties is a secret, the amounts collected through E-Bonds, this time, have indicated the amazing imbalance in it and the worrisome absence of a level playing field in this.

The biggest problem in our electoral and party processes is, the uncontrolled money power. It is uncontrolled because it is primarily hidden money, contributed by private corporates or individuals with quid-pro-quo agendas. Private monetary contributions to political parties, by cash or cheques or bonds, white or black, open or secret always comes with hidden agendas and interests.

The Supreme Court judgment on E-Bonds has thrown light on the crime. It suggests no alternatives. Neither is it the duty of the Courts. The public opinion and Parliament must enact laws providing alternative ways of political funding.

Below are some suggestions in this direction. The basic belief underlining these suggestions is that for such fundamental democratic functions undertaken by political parties and electoral systems 'Public Funding' or 'State Funding,' replacing the present private funding is the solution.

STATE FUNDING: A DEMOCRATIC ALTERNATIVE

State Funding is a done thing in the democratic world. Much data and arguments for and against are available on it, in the handbook Funding of Political Parties and Election Campaigns, published by IDEA in 2014.

In India, the Inderjit Gupta Committee 1998 was the first to endorse State Funding with two limitations: a) It should be given only to recognised political parties and not to independent candidates and b) It should be given in kind in the form of certain facilities. The Law Commission of India Report 1999 even recommended total State funding as desirable along with prohibition of funds from other sources. In addition, it recommended appropriate statutory provisions to effectively regulate the structure and behaviour of political parties. These included laying down internal democratic structures for political parties and compulsory maintenance of party income and expenditure accounts and their audit. Similar regulations were also recommended by the National Commission to Review the Workings of the Constitution 2001.

In India, at present, The Representation of the People Act, 1951 and the Election Commission of India are not empowered adequately to control the political parties. The Model Code of Conduct is not a statutory provision. Where violations occur and complaints are lodged with the Election Commission, it ends only with a warning, directions, and at most, fines. The political parties have least fear of being de-recognised. Political parties with their mountains of hidden money-power, influential political power and the ruling parties with governmental administrative, legislative and treasury power have become laws unto themselves with their 'high commands' issuing whips and commands.

In this background, the following three suggestions for State Funding of political parties and Election Commissions emerge:

1) Creation of a National Political Fund.

2) Establishment of a National Political parties and Election Commission.

3) Statutory provisions and finances to provide equal public opportunities for electoral campaigning.

First, a statutory or constitutional National Political Fund has to be created. It can be built through,

(i) 'Democratic tax' or surcharge to be paid by the public.

(ii) A fixed portion of all corporate social sector funds (Corporate Social Responsibility fund).

(iii) Any voluntary and open contribution by any organisation or individual.

Second, to administer this fund and to effectively control political parties and election campaigns, a Constitutional National Political Parties and Election Commission has to be established. Such an organisation with enough teeth can manage the onerous democratic job of facilitating and controlling Political Parties and Election Campaigns.

Third, statutory provisions and finances have to be arranged to provide support in kind, providing equal opportunities for campaigning to all political parties. These facilities in kind may include. Constituency-wise 'election weekly' or suitable print media communication with equal opportunity for all political parties.

Equal time on public radio and TV for party campaigns.

Mohalla-wise periodic public campaign meetings attended by all party candidates to present their campaigns.

Compulsory voting is achieved through incentives and fines, by providing their daily wage to wage earners for voting and by punishing non-voting rich people to pay a higher percentage of income tax or any other tax.

Such provisions managed effectively by the Constituency-wise or District-wise Election Commission would reduce the cost of elections. Reduced costs will be less burdensome on the public exchequer. But it requires simultaneously prohibition of hidden, private campaign expenditures by candidates and political parties. These would promote level-playing field and the health of our Democracy.

We Indians have many reasons to be proud of our Democracy, which is the biggest Democracy of the world. But, Democracy is a very civilised and delicate political process. It has improved through history. It is time now to improve it further to save it from becoming a Cryptocracy (rule by thieves) or Lootocracy (rule by looters) or even a mere Plutocracy (rule by the rich).

Concern over excessive medication, pesticide use

Mysuru, Apr. 14 (GA&BCT)- Vice-President of Karnataka Higher Education Council Prof. S.R. Niranjan has voiced apprehension regarding the growing trend of excessive medication intake and pesticide use, which he believes is contributing to the rise in health issues among the populace.

Speaking after inaugurating the 'World Health Day' organised by Suyog Hospital and Suyog Educational Institutions at Ramakrishnanagar recently, Prof. Niranjan highlighted that the widespread use of pesticides in agriculture has resulted in these chemicals seeping into food items, posing risks to human health.

He emphasised the need to curtail the usage of pesticides to safeguard public health and called for the development of technologies aimed at disease prevention.

Proposing solutions, Dr. Niranjan suggested a reduction in pesticide application and advocated for the adoption of alternative agricultural practices. He cited ongoing research efforts worldwide and urged India to prioritise initiatives aimed at minimising the use of disease-inducing pesticides in food production and increasing dependency on crops that are known to have the ability to fight diseases.

"The escalating reliance on crops renowned for their disease-fighting properties underscores a growing recognition of the pivotal role that nutrition plays in preventive healthcare," Dr. Niranjan said.

As individuals become increasingly conscious of the link between diet and health, there has been a notable shift towards incorporating immune-boosting foods into daily consumption habits, he opined.

Suyog Hospital Chairman Dr. S.P. Yoganna echoed Dr. Niranjan's concerns and emphasised the holistic definition of health by the World Health Organisation. He stressed the importance of lifestyle factors such as balanced nutrition, physical activity and stress management in maintaining overall well-being.

Retired VC Dr. N.S. Ramegowda said that the 'World Health Day' celebrations on Apr. 7 emphasise the theme centred on advocating for health rights. He highlighted the significance of promoting health awareness and fostering a culture of preventive healthcare practices.

Medical Director of Suyog Hospital Dr. R. Rajendra Prasad, Managing Director Dr. Suyog Yoganna and Director Dr. Yashitha Raj & others were present on the occasion.

WORD OF THE DAY

Conjecture

Pronunciation: kun-JEK-cher (Verb)
Meaning: Conjecture is a formal synonym of the verb guess that means "to form an opinion or idea without proof or sufficient evidence."
Origin: Conjecturing — forming an idea or opinion with some amount of guesswork — usually involves more than simply throwing ideas at the wall and seeing what sticks, but that's the gist, and with good etymological reason: conjecture comes ultimately from the Latin verb conicere, which means, literally, "to throw together." To conjecture is to make an educated guess rather than a stab in the dark; it involves piecing together bits of information to come to a plausible conclusion, as in "scientists conjecturing about the cause of the disease." As such, conjecture tends to show up in formal contexts rather than informal ones, though we reckon one could conjecture if their spaghetti is perfectly cooked based on the amount of time it has been boiling, and on what has worked in the past.
Example: "In the week since the news of the thefts broke, the case has been the subject of heated speculation in the British news media, with daily articles conjecturing over how many artifacts had been lost, and who was responsible." — Alex Marshall, The New York Times, 22 Aug. 2023

THE ODD WORD

Bruxism

A condition in which you grind, gnash or clench your teeth.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Take with a grain of salt

Meaning: The phrase 'Take with a grain of salt' means that listener should take the source of the information as prone to be unreliable or exaggerated.
Origin: "Take it with a grain of salt" is more common in American and Australian English, while "take it with a pinch of salt" is more common in British English.
Example: "Yolanda tells some great stories, but we take what she says with a grain of salt because she has quite a vivid imagination & tends to exaggerate."

Voter awareness through wall paintings

Mysuru, Apr. 14 (SBD&BCT)- During this election season, Government authorities are actively engaged in raising awareness among voters and have undertaken the responsibility of disseminating the message effectively.

The awareness campaign is a collaborative effort between the District Administration, the SVEEP (Systematic Voters' Education and Electoral Participation) Committee and the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC). Its primary objective is to discourage the defacement of public spaces while simultaneously enhancing their aesthetics through colourful paintings, thereby spreading the importance of voting.

As part of this initiative, the walls surrounding MCC Zonal Office 6 on Sheshadri Iyer Road have been adorned with attractive paintings conveying the significance of voting and encouraging participation in the democratic process.

In addition to promoting the message of compulsory voting through artistic expressions and messaging, slogans such as "I will vote" have been prominently displayed to motivate urban voters to visit the polling booths and cast their votes.

Furthermore, a designated selfie point has been established, allowing the public to capture photos and share them with their social circles, fostering a sense of civic engagement and encouraging participation in the electoral process.

'This initiative serves a dual purpose of enhancing the city's aesthetics while also emphasising the significance of every vote. There is a pressing need to educate and sensitise young voters who often lack seriousness in exercising their franchise. Our objective is to ignite their interest in politics and simultaneously maintain the cleanliness of our city," stated the officers involved.

The initiative was inaugurated by Assistant Electoral Officer Venkataraju of the Chamaraja segment, in the presence of Zone 6 Commissioner Vani V. Alva, Development Officer Venkatesh, Environment Engineer Maithri and other officials.
